Material on Roman Civilization
in story form, pictures and questions

NEW ELEMENTARY LATIN
by Ullman and Henry

One of the striking features of this new book is the quantity of material on Roman civilization. It is presented in the connected Latin which accompanies each Lesson as well as in a separate section of material in English. Throughout all the work on correlated studies stress is laid on the interesting phases of ancient Roman life. $1.40.

PROGRESS TESTS IN LATIN
by Ullman and Smalley

Material is divided into seven sections, stressing grammar and syntax, and, finally, Roman civilization. In pad form. $ .80.

ELEMENTARY LATIN CLASSICS

A series of eight simple readers for beginners in Latin. Emphasis on Latin civilization. Send for complete list.

VERGILIAN PILGRIMAGE

. . . AND AENEID CRUISE . . .

ITINERARY. The Aeneid Cruise will follow the route of Aeneas through the Mediterranean for a period of twenty-five days, starting from Venice on a specially chartered steamer. It will visit, among other places too numerous to mention, the Dalmatian Coast, Greece, Constantinople, Troy, Delos, Crete, Sicily, Carthage, and will end in Naples. The Cruise will be preceded by a short tour through Europe (including Oberammergau), and will be followed by a ten-day visit in and around Naples and Rome.

LEADERSHIP. The staff of the Aeneid Cruise includes at the present time Ralph Van Deman Magoffin, Louis E. Lord, Rollin H. Tanner, Walter Miller, H. H. Powers, and Lorado Taft. Other leaders and lecturers will be announced later.

LATIN--SECOND YEAR

By Lillian G. Berry

Professor of Latin, Indiana University, Bloomington, Indiana

and Josephine Lee

Teacher of Latin, Shortridge High School, Indianapolis, Indiana

Latin—Second Year leads the student by easy, definitely progressive steps through the second year course. Continuing the brilliantly successful plan of Latin—First Year, the book provides a colorful background of life in ancient Rome, to enrich the student's understanding of his Latin reading.

All the requirements of the College Entrance Examination Board, of course, are covered in Latin—Second Year.

LATIN I

Cloth 544 pages. Illustrations and Vocabularies. $1.40

MODERN FEATURES

THE large amount of easy, connected Latin for translation:

THE number and variety of exercises showing the relation of English to Latin:

THE historical-cultural content of the Latin readings:

THE postponement of much of the difficult syntax to the second year (subjunctive, ablative absolute, gerundive, supine and deponent verbs, etc.).

CONSERVATIVE FEATURES

THE thoroughness with which the forms and the syntax are taught:

THE immediate use of each grammatical principle as soon as the pupil has learned it:

AMPLE reviews and drills.

THE central part of each regular chapter is a passage of easy, connected Latin that tells something worthwhile about the Romans. As a preparatory help in studying the passage the pupil is taught certain forms and principles of syntax, and in addition there are vocabularies, notes, etc.

Index to THE CLASSICAL WEEKLY, Volume XXII

October 1, 1928—May 20, 1929

This Index, prepared by Charles Knapp, has been worked out exactly along the lines followed in the General Index to Volumes I–XVI, and in the separate Indexes to Volumes XVII–XXI.

By the use of space-saving devices much more material is presented in a smaller number of pages.

The name of an author and the title of an article are given in full only once, at the place where the author's surname appears in the alphabetical sequence. The title of a book reviewed will be found in full only where the name of the author appears in the list given under the caption "Reviews". To the titles of articles or subjects (e. g. "African Latin", etc.) the names of the authors are not attached; the names can readily be found by looking up the page or pages named.

"Aeneid: Vergil" = 'For the Aeneid see under Vergil'; "Altitalisches Wörterbuch: Reviews, Muller" = 'See Reviews, under the name Muller'; "see above", "see below" = 'see above', 'see below' under the same caption (i. e. in the same paragraph of entries).

Under the caption "Reviews" will be found some entries enclosed in square brackets. Such entries deal with books not formally reviewed, but mentioned, in some detail, in the course of an article or review. Material of this sort will be found listed in appropriate places elsewhere, enclosed, in each instance, in square brackets.

Latin Department

SUMMER SESSION

July 1 to August 9, 1929

The Latin department of Syracuse University takes pleasure in announcing that a course in CLASSICAL CIVILIZATION will be given in the Summer Session of 1929 by PROFESSOR DAVID M. ROBINSON, Ph.D., LL.D., of The Johns Hopkins University.

While the course is intended primarily for teachers of Latin, it will be of interest to others who desire to know more about the cultural life of the Greeks and the Romans. No knowledge of Greek or of Latin is required. Reports and reading are necessary for credit.

The scope of the course in Classical Civilization is as follows:

"A survey of Greek and Latin literature, art, and architecture. The lectures on literature will deal especially with the epic and the drama, with readings in the best English translations; emphasis will be laid on the Greek influence on Latin and English literatures. Illustrated lectures on the centers of classical civilization, which have been excavated, such as Cnossus, Mycenae, Athens, Epidaurus, Olympia, Delphi, Rome, Ostia, Pompeii, Timgad, Nimes, etc. Lectures on classical sculpture, painting, and architecture".

Other courses offered in the Latin department of the Summer Session are:

Latin Composition for Teachers	Professor Place
Third Year Latin for Teachers	Professor Place
Roman Lyric Poetry	Professor Place
Roman Pastoral Poetry	Professor Dickson
Roman Epigram	Professor Dickson
Survey of Latin Literature	Professor Dickson

Conferences on the Teaching of First Year Latin, Wednesday, at 4.
Model Class in Second Year Latin, Daily, 8–11. Instructor Edell.

For the Bulletin of the Summer Session, Address
